

Thinking about living off-campus senior year?

Talk to your rector or hall staff

Are you considering hall leadership? You have created great memories as a member of your hall community. Discern what type of experience you want to have during your senior year.

Determine your budget

Apartment or house? Walk or drive? Rent, transportation, food, electricity, trash, internet, furniture, renter's insurance, all things to consider. Make a budget to see what you can afford and know what is or is not included in rent.

Visit our website: offcampus.nd.edu

Access this website with your netID and search available properties, review resources, and use the student roommate finder. Take your time to research and view properties that will meet your needs as a student.

Consider your roommates

Do your roommates want the same off-campus experience as you? Increased freedom living off-campus means having discussions about parties, responsibility, and budget.

Carefully read your lease before signing

This is a legal document between you, your landlord, roommates, and co-signers. Residential Life encourages students to not sign leases more than 18 months in advance.
